had everything I see. Careful class at the Sabbath School. January 1st, I am getting a little more time at the university. This is the time of the day when the directors of the two companies are to meet. The directors of the Oregon Navigation meet upon a maritime committee within the city. They are to grant their franchises to the two companies. It is probable that some compromise may be effected, but in the meantime there is no change of any trouble in the way of either party. It is quite probable that the directors will be able to agree on what the Union Pacific can give to the Oregon Navigation in as well as what the latter is likely to lose by the closing of the new connection with the Pacific coast. The Committee of the two companies is to consider the matter and to determine whether they may or may not go to the Southern Pacific.
